New Year Resolutions made EASIER!

It would seem that people are falling out of love with the idea of New Year Resolutions. Globally, the big things that people want to change in their lives don't change that much - lose weight, get fitter/healthier, drink less alcohol, give up smoking, learn a language, learn an instrument, travel more, have better work/life balance and so on. But, whilst many of us are interested in achieving these changes, many of us don't make it past the first six weeks of the New Year, and often by Valentine's Day, the goals are relegated to a distant memory.

So, what to do instead?

Well, in 2024, many people are aiming for much smaller changes, which added together, make for a happier, more interesting, and fulfilled life. Here are some ideas to get you started, no doubt, some on this list will appeal - but you may have your own things to add. Some of the things you may well do already, in fact, may be non-negotiable for you - but will be a hurdle and point of dissatisfaction for others.

Read on to satisfy your curiosity:

- MAKE THE BED every day!
- Get some HOUSE PLANTS, and keep them alive!
- Make an effort to KEEP IN TOUCH more regularly, with your parents/grand-parents, or other people that are important to you.
- Make a shopping list and STICK TO IT at the supermarket.
- Do some level of FOOD PREPARATION, to set up the week.
- Throughout the year, carry out some ACTS of KINDNESS for family or strangers.
- At least once in 2024, TRY SOMETHING NEW, and something that scares you - get out of your comfort zone.
- WRITE A LETTER to someone, maybe a friend that you have lost connection with - or someone that has moved abroad, or someone older in your life that would appreciate pen to paper.
- Once per month try to COOK or BAKE a new recipe.
- GIVE COMPLIMENTS, at work, to family, to colleagues, to strangers, and yourself its free!
- TAKE A BREAK from things that are not helping you, the news, social media - TV etc.
- Once during 2024, try MAKING, BUILDING or CREATING something. Could be an art project, could be DIY - you choose.
- Learn to delegate more and PRACTICE SAYING NO!
- Once per year, have A GOOD DECLUTTER/wardrobe clear-out.
- REFRESH YOUR LOOK, checking if make-up colours, clothing styles etc still suit you and the phase of life you are in.
- LET RELATIONSHIPS GO that don't serve you anymore.
- BE KIND to yourself!

If even curating a simple list leaves you cold. You could just come up with one sentiment - to frame the way, you would like to tackle the year. For example,

In 2024, I want to focus on things I am PASSIONATE ABOUT.

Or, 2024 should be all about BRINGING CALM into my life.

Happy New Year, wishing you every success in 2024 and beyond...

THE MINOR ARCANA

In 2023 we delved into Tarot and the Major Arcana. Throughout 2024, our focus will shift to the 56 cards of the Minor Arcana. Similar to a deck of playing cards, the Minor Arcana in Tarot is divided into four suits: Cups, Pentacles, Swords, and Wands. Each suit consists of 14 cards. Additionally, there are corresponding meanings between these suits and traditional playing card symbols: Cups represent Hearts, Pentacles represent Diamonds, Swords represent Spades, and Wands represent Clubs.

While a standard deck of playing cards has three "court" cards - King, Queen, and Jack - Tarot includes an additional court card for each suit. This is why there are 56 cards in the Minor Arcana compared to the 52-card deck used in playing cards. Both Tarot and playing cards have ten "pip" or numbered cards ranging from one to ten.

Although the Minor Arcana may not possess the same allure as the Major Arcana, it plays a crucial role in understanding the everyday aspects of our lives. The court cards can describe both individuals and situations encountered along our journey. On the other hand, pip cards symbolise various stages we experience such as encounters with people or ideas that inspire us or challenges, we face while pursuing new ventures.

CUPS

As you might expect from its association with hearts, the Cups cards are associated with love and your emotions. These cards govern all relationships, from family, friends, and colleagues to romantic partners.

These cards are connected to fertility; this can be in the literal sense - the birth of a child, but also in new beginnings. They also relate to creativity and the nurturing of talent. Cups are the ruler of the unconscious mind and are linked to water signs in astrology (Cancer, Pisces and Scorpio).

If there is a dominance in a spread of Cups cards, then the querent may be overly involved in the situation and be unable to retain objectivity.

PENTACLES

The Pentacle cards all pertain to value, encompassing things that hold significance for the querent. This can include aspects such as their career, status, and business endeavours. Additionally, these cards also represent more tangible forms of value such as money, property, and wealth in a broader sense.

From an astrological perspective, the Pentacle cards are associated with the Earth element, which corresponds to the zodiac signs Capricorn, Taurus, and Virgo. These cards are deeply rooted in practicality and materiality. They symbolise things that we can physically grasp, observe with our senses, and touch.

However, it is important to note that an excessive presence of Pentacle cards during a reading might indicate a need for the querent to be more grounded in reality. In other words, they should focus on dealing with present circumstances rather than becoming preoccupied with future possibilities or hypothetical situations.

SWORDS

If you conjure up a picture of a sword, it may have a double edge, and so it is with this suit, as it rules two aspects - Thoughts and Words, and either can be positive or negative, truth or lies!

It makes sense that a dual meaning would tie in with Air star signs like Gemini, Aquarius and Libra. The cards are also heavily connected to communication; this could be conversations, but could also be intellectual thought, or letters, phone calls, texts etc.

Sword cards deal with the logical and rational. But if a reading has a lot of Sword cards, it could indicate that the querent is giving an area of their life too much thought. By focusing so heavily, they may actually be making a situation worse.

Readings

If you can't wait for us to unpack all of the Minor Arcana, why not have a Tarot Reading with an expert now? We have many readers who specialise in this type of psychic reading. Here is a selection to choose from:

Aelissa, PIN: 4444

To Aelissa Tarot is the most versatile reader tool. She feels that the reasons and causes behind issues can be clearly seen; timescales are more accessible and probable outcomes clearer. As well as a client's questions being more easily highlighted.

Alice, PIN: 6543

Alice generously offers her connection to Spirit to guide you but can also use various methods to connect you to that source. She has special expertise with Tarot cards. She can also offer Angel cards, Enlightenment cards, crystal ball and more.

Jancey, PIN: 3032

Using Tarot when precise timings are needed; Jancey feels that the cards can give very specific information and insights into the right direction to be taking. Whether this is giving advice on matters of the heart or any other topic.

WANDS

Wands bring together all sorts of journeys; they could be literal - like holidays and travel, spiritual or mental. As such, they deal with dreams, aspirations and adventures. Of course, what comes with that is possible gambles, risks, innovations, speculation and negotiation. Essentially, nothing ventured, nothing gained!

Wand's wider themes are family - and putting them first, pursuing some sort of creative outlet, and having ambitions. So, it is no surprise then, that Wands are associated with astrological Fire signs - Leo, Aries and Sagittarius.

If more Wand cards turn up in a spread, making it somewhat unbalanced, it could mean that the querent is willing to take more chances than is necessary, or is good for them!

Michaela, PIN: 3232

In what can appear to be dark places in a person's life, Michaela uses her readings with the guidance of her Tarot Cards to assist the caller to rediscover positivity. To see the road ahead more clearly so that the caller can make better decisions and have a happier life.

Pauline, PIN: 3798

As a reader, Pauline enjoys giving general readings over the telephone. She specialises in relationship readings; and works with Tarot and Angel Cards, using her clairvoyance to tune into her Guides.

Sarah, PIN: 9888

Sarah is a reader who started learning the art of Tarot and spiritual reading from an early age. Now with over 20 years of experience with the cards, she has a unique outlook and understanding of this ancient art.

signs & symbols

In this new series for 2024, we explore Signs & Symbols. From the winter weather, it might seem strange to start with The Sun; however, as well as being a symbol of summer and good weather, it is also a powerful symbol to be revered as a life force and cosmic power. Often, the Sun is associated with vitality, enlightenment, birth and regeneration, making it a perfect starting place for the New Year.

In Japan and American/Indian Tribes, the Sun is considered female, but by and large, throughout history and culture, the Sun is seen as a male energy. The Sun is often depicted with a dual personality: one of passion, youth, royalty, and a fertilising force, but also as something with a great capacity for fire and destruction.

Here, we take a look at some legends and Gods associated with the Sun:

• Icarus (right)

Many of us will know the story of Icarus, who despite his father's warnings, made wings so that he may fly - but got too near to the sun, resulting in melted wings and a fall from the heavens, so to speak. His story is supposed to symbolise a downfall for having little respect for the Gods.

• Surya

As you will also see from Apollo, chariots and the Sun seem to go together. In this case, this Vedic Sun God - Surya's chariot was pulled by seven horses. This Sun God's message was of dying in flames (sunset); but then experiencing re-birth (sun-rise); with a meaning of immortality.

• Phoenix

One of the most known symbols is that of the Phoenix, and eagle-like bird, often seen rising from the ashes or flames. It is again a story of death, re-birth and the Sun.

• Khepri

Khepri is perhaps not as well known, but was an Egyptian God of the rising Sun. Often, a drawing will depict a scarab beetle and the Sun. It is considered a lucky talisman to many, and is associated with new life.

• Apollo (left)

Apollo was of course, a Greek God who was associated with Helios (the God who drove the Sun's chariot across the sky). Usually, Apollo is depicted as youthful and blonde, and as providing a life-giving light to Earth.

• Rahu

Rahu was an Indian daemon; he is often pictured with no body and an inflated face - from having swallowed the Sun! His action was thought to cause eclipses. The Sun, would of course, reappear again, having no body - meant that Rahu could never contain the Sun.

• Phaeton

Phaeton is actually Helios' (as mentioned under Apollo) son. He is said to have driven the chariot in a reckless manner, and so was punished by Zeus - who threw a lightning bolt - striking him dead!

Luna Cycles: Waxing Moon

If you have been thinking about New Year Resolutions, and how to approach things differently in 2024, then harnessing the energy of the Luna Cycle might be just the thing.

Reader Sarah, PIN: 9888, introduces us to the Waxing Moon:

During the Waxing Moon phase, which occurs after a New Moon and before the Full Moon, the energies in the lunar cycle begin to intensify. This is a favourable time to harness these energies and create momentum in our lives. It presents an opportunity for us to sow the seeds of manifestation by setting goals and initiating new projects.

By utilising this period effectively, we can maximise our chances of success as these endeavours will reach their peak around the time of the Full Moon. Therefore, it is advisable to take advantage of this phase for goal setting and starting new ventures.

The Waxing Moon phase also signifies a time for focused effort and hard work. It encourages us to put our heads down and engage in dedicated action towards our objectives. During this period, we have an opportunity to lay strong foundations for our goals, ensuring stability and longevity.

Moreover, any personal growth or development undertaken during this phase will be accelerated due to the heightened energy present in the Waxing Moon. This makes it an ideal time for self-improvement activities or pursuing areas that require growth.

Visually identifying the Waxing Moon is relatively straightforward: its appearance reveals only a right-hand crescent while its left side remains shrouded in darkness. By recognising this lunar phase's distinct characteristics, we can align ourselves with its energy and make optimal use of its potential benefits.

The Waxing Moon is the ideal time to:

- Set goals on all levels.
- Start manifestations or re-power long term manifestations.
- Start new projects or pick up old forgotten about ones.
- Build up your own inner strength and power physically, mentally and spiritually ready for the Full Moons energy.

Crystals to harness during a Waxing Moon:

- Lapis Lazuli
- Amethyst
- Amazonite
- Aventurine
- Tigers Eye
- Carnelian

Herbs Associated with the Waxing Moon:

- Cayenne
- Ginger
- Peppermint
- Cinnamon
- Citrus
- Black Pepper

Colours associated with the Waxing Moon:

- White
- Orange
- Red

The energy around this time is undeniable as the cycle builds towards the Full Moon so however you use it make sure you enjoy it and make use of that extra bit of get up and go!

Jules

On the face of it, "Jules" is a story of a somewhat eccentric man showing early signs of Alzheimer's. The highlight of his week is attending the city council meeting, where he repeatedly raises two points: changing the town's name and adding a crosswalk. However, one week, he introduces an additional issue - a UFO that supposedly landed in his garden and ruined his azaleas and birdhouse!

Setting

Ben Kingsley morphs brilliantly into the main character, Milton Robinson. He resides in rural Pennsylvania, specifically in a town called Boonton. The setting exudes an old-school vibe, reminiscent of a time when a flying saucer (similar to those seen in E.T.) could crash-land in his backyard without attracting attention from anyone else.

Of course, at the heart of things, this story isn't so much about extra-terrestrial activity as it is about the chronic loneliness experienced by older people in America and around the globe.

Milton is someone whom you could easily spot regularly, going about his day at the post office, supermarket, or council meeting. However, we often fail to give him much thought until he's no longer there! The film doesn't delve deeply into Milton's backstory, but we do know that he is estranged from his son. On the other hand, he regularly interacts with his daughter Denise, who happens to be a local veterinarian. Denise serves as Milton's primary human connection and is portrayed by our cover star Zoe Winters, whom you might recognise from Succession.

UFO

You might be wondering, why is the film named "Jules"? Well, the UFO came with an alien that Milton named Jules. Soon, news of Jules' existence spreads to other senior citizens - Sandy and Joyce, portrayed by Harriet Sansom Harris and Jane Curtin. Early on, Joyce decides that the alien looks more like a Gary than a Jules and therefore uses that name throughout the film.

Jules, the little grey creature from the UFO, never actually speaks in the film. However, it manages to create powerful eye contact and elicit strong connections and emotions from Milton, Sandy, and Joyce. Much of the film focuses on what will happen when their visitor is discovered. Simultaneously, it delves into the subjects of time, memories, their pasts, as well as any mistakes they made and regrets they have.

Loneliness

The science fiction angle is perhaps an odd way to explore the theme that in the 21st century when technology abounds and supposedly brings everyone together, there are still so many people experiencing profound loneliness. The metaphors used in this film make it a resonating watch for many. "Jules" was released in the summer of 2023 in the USA. Bleeker Street acquired the rights for a UK release, and it is scheduled to be shown in UK cinemas starting on December 29th, 2023.

How a Psychic Reading can assist with Family Dynamics

Christmas time is often a time for families to gather, but for many of us these events will be fraught with expectations and tensions. Whether it is grown adults, reverting to acting like children around their parents, or sibling rivalry coming to the fore, or just the clash of different personalities and ideas about how things should be done. If your Christmas was not exactly a Hallmark Movie, then 2024 might be the year to think about sorting your family dynamics. You might not have considered before; how useful a Psychic's perspective can be in this area of your life - read on to find out how they might assist.

For most of us, the family is where we first learn who we are, and how to relate to others and to the world around us. The dynamics within the family unit influence how we see ourselves and others, our well-being and our behaviours in the workplace. And it's not limited to the present day, as we often feel the effects of the attitudes, habits and traditions from previous generations.

The Formative Years

When we are growing up, we take our cue from our parents or guardians, extended family and siblings. Family life is seldom plain-sailing as we navigate changing circumstances; babies grow into toddlers, new babies come along, and the school years lead to young adults finding their own place in society. But the one constant through these changes tends to be the family unit. And if this remains strong, supportive and a place where all voices are heard and valued, then it will be a family of strength and unity.

So much for the ideal! There's no such thing as the "ideal" family, and our households might be made up of members of more than one family unit blended together.

Testing the Dynamics

Very often, life hits us with dramatic, traumatic and downright difficult situations which test the patience of every member of the family. Dealing with relationship breakdown, unemployment and money worries, housing issues, illness, mental health issues, and a host of life's problems can put enormous strain on the whole family. Sibling rivalry, tensions between adults and just feeling worn out with stress and worry are just some of the challenges most of us face at some time. In addition, we may have to respond to financial pressures by taking on more work or spending longer hours in an existing job. Cue exhaustion and frayed tempers.

Our family homes risk becoming places of tensions, misunderstandings and hurt feelings which if they are not addressed may lead to resentment and feelings of isolation. The "Blame Game" is never helpful and can cause rifts that are long lasting and damaging to everyone involved.

Family life, then, is subject to change and challenge through the years. No wonder it becomes overwhelming at times and reaching out for some insight and guidance from a Psychic Reader can make things clearer for you to see your way forward and out of the difficulties.

Psychic Reading

A psychic reading at a time when your family are struggling to get along harmoniously can be immensely helpful in gaining a better understanding of the factors that are playing out in the home. A good Psychic Reader may see what is happening around other members of the family and bring guidance on their differing perspectives, thus giving insight on communicating and offering support where it's needed. This can be particularly useful where somebody is finding it hard to talk about what is bothering them, such as a child who is experiencing problems with schoolwork or is being bullied, or an adult who feels that they should be coping better with a challenging situation and doesn't want to burden you with something they feel is their problem. The feeling that we need to protect each other can be detrimental if nobody else really has a clue what the problem is!

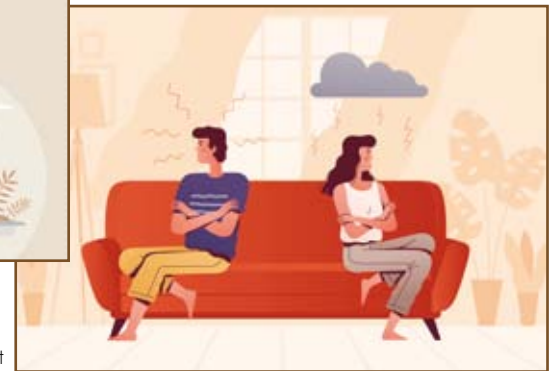

A psychic reading can also help you get to the heart of your own feelings, and why you are reacting to situations as you are. Pinpointing things from your past that are affecting you still, and helping you release those burdens and stop repeating the same processes, is a healing process for you which also has a positive effect on everyone around you. Being open to seeking guidance from a Psychic Reader is a great step in recognising that you are looking to change things for the better and you want to enable all the members of the household to calmly review the way they see each other and relate to one another.

Restore Balance

When you feel as if you're going round in circles, a psychic reading can help you understand and support your loved ones and restore the balance in your home. Choosing your reading with a Psychic Reader who is also a Medium could help you further, by connecting with members of previous generations and offering some insight into long-standing problems or recurring patterns of behaviour. Once you understand where something has originated, it's easier to accept it and move on. Realising that we cannot always change things but learning that we can change our reaction to those negative events is helpful in relieving the distress and tension that comes with traumatic change. It gives us a way to cope with situations that might be new and frightening, challenging and uncertain. It gives us our power back.

A Psychic Reader, who is also a Healer, will be able to send healing to you, and to the situation which you find yourself in. A Healer will help you talk about what is causing you unhappiness and offer healing to your whole situation. Releasing blocks to progress and giving everyone a re-set to a more calm and united future. Healing can be a process that takes time, but a skilled Healer will make sure that you remain informed and aware, holding space for you to find peace and ease.

Calm Thoughts

It is important to realise that the energy that you bring to your psychic reading is a factor influencing the reading that you will receive. Try to calm your thoughts! The issues you need help with are probably overwhelming you with stress and worry, but it will help if you feel calm when you make your phone call. You should ideally have set time aside when you are not going to be disturbed or distracted. Spend a couple of moments preparing for your reading by writing down the important points you want help with; this helps you not to forget anything. Take a few deep breaths to relax your body and mind, and help you focus. You might also find that having a glass of fresh water by you is useful to refresh you and keep your focus.

Finally, remember that you are never alone in this journey. Taking the first step by seeking guidance from your chosen Psychic Reader brings you to a place where nobody will judge you when you speak freely and openly, will not tell you what you should do, but will simply support you in finding your best solution.

With our expert:

Chrystalyte

Welcome to Free Spirit's in-depth horoscopes for January 2024

Aries

Mars follows the Sun into Capricorn now, bringing the helpful qualities of the earth element into stronger focus. You can benefit, especially, from being around other people who are grounded and focussed. They may well be some of the first to offer practical help, or come up with workable solutions to problems. The period between January 10th-12th is especially golden, as Mars links with both Saturn and Jupiter, emphasising good organisation and new adventures. You can get something finally sewn up, and concentrate on what helps life to prosper.

Taurus

The focus of Venus in Sagittarius this month extends the Sun's positive, growth-focussed theme even further. You finally have scope to start putting the fruits of recent labours to good use, which may include a fun buy, or substantial new purchase. It could be important, or useful, nevertheless, to take stock of your overall situation around January 19th, when Venus is at odds with the deceptive planet Neptune. If there is any confusion in a situation, work on untangling – rather than ignoring – it! Attention to detail could prevent unnecessary difficulties.

Gemini

After New Year's Day, Mercury shifts to forward motion signalling a return to normality – or at least a chance to pick up some pieces and move on smoothly again! This planet is in the expansive sign of Sagittarius, suggesting an opportunity to pick up with more expansive plans. Perhaps you feel ready to aim high at something that you had lost heart about before. The zodiac's Archer also emphasises higher learning, whether to do with greater understanding of the mysteries of life, or signing up on a course of study.

Libra

Opportunities to take further steps in many areas abound now, as Venus moves through Sagittarius, opening the social doorway wider. If you seek love, then aim higher or further afield – seems to be the message from the stars! There may still be some challenges to manage, however, with Saturn and Neptune squaring up to Venus on the 2nd and 19th January, respectively. So be ready to either take positive action or find a way to sidestep strife. Seeking clarity and avoiding assumptions are some of the major keys to success.

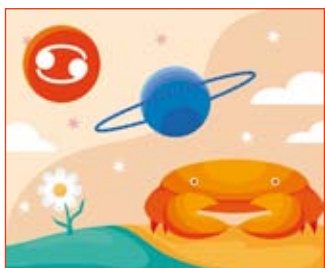

Scorpio

Pluto finally changes signs now, heading into Aquarius where there is a stronger need to embrace the new. Scorpio's fixed nature is naturally balanced out by the water element, which means that when it makes sense to adjust, you manage it well. A situation could turn out to be more to your advantage than you imagined. So, wherever matters are starting to look promising, all you need do is keep putting your best foot forward! January 20th adds power when Pluto aligns with the Sun, offering opportunities to truly shine.

Sagittarius

There is a series of positive connections from Jupiter to three of the inner planets – Mars, Mercury and Venus between January 12th and 29th – which could open a lot of doorways for you. Whether you decide to take advantage of such options, including accepting specific invitations, is entirely up to you. Since the Sun squares up to Jupiter on the 27th, it's possible you'll have an inner challenge to manage, no matter what's happening on the outside. Just don't doubt yourself! The Universe will step up to meet your needs.

Cancer

The focus of the New Moon in Capricorn around January 11th suggests that initiatives may need to come from other people for plans to go ahead successfully, so be ready to be patient – or to respond to others' requests foremost. The full Moon on the 25th links with Jupiter and Pluto, urging getting rid of whatever seems outdated or less useful to you. If anything is clogging up your schedule, or another part of life, some clearing could help you feel lighter and brighter, whilst making time for neglected areas!

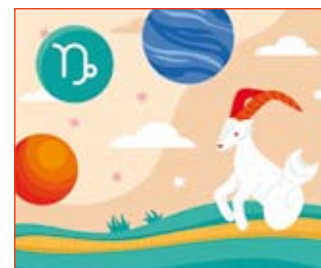

Leo

It's important to remember your brilliance and let good instincts lead to wise decisions. The ease of following the pack, or the struggle to keep up with it, can lead to keeping a low profile when not feeling on form. But when you fully shine, you can inspire others in ways you easily forget. The Sun's link to Neptune in mid-month could help clear a few issues, as well as bring new ideas and flows your way. A Leo full Moon on the 25th suggests finding yourself a better deal.

Virgo

Energy levels are due to surge with Mercury resuming forward motion again on January 2nd. Worry not if you have got behind with anything, found it difficult to connect or to get going. All is about to change and even a good flow can only get better from here on in. That said, a tricky astral link with Neptune around the 9th indicates one final bit of untangling to be done, or clarity to be found. But once you can sort this, and the light dawns, it's mostly plain sailing.

Capricorn

Between January 10th and 28th Saturn in Pisces establishes some helpful connections with the zodiac's innermost movers and shakers: Mars, Mercury and Venus. These suggest you are hearing from, contacting and meeting with the right people for helpful opportunities to develop and for rapid progress to be made. It may sometimes feel as though you are being held or carried, especially across any tasks you would have not expected to be easy. The Capricorn new Moon on the 11th adds the bonus of a brand new start. Embrace being bold!

Aquarius

Planetary connections with Uranus are so much lighter and brighter this month! The Sun, Mercury and Mars are all involved, across January 10th-29th, bringing a certain ease to your dealings and interactions with the world. There is plenty of scope for new projects, plus unexpected solutions to problems from around the 27th, when Uranus finally shifts gears and finds its forward direction again! January is a time for refreshing something that's been hanging around a while. Positive changes could make a huge, helpful difference to energy and motivation levels.

Pisces

There may be issues around two tricky planetary links to Neptune – involving Mercury and Venus – on January 9th and 19th. They may highlight results of not seeing something clearly, making assumptions based on happy expectations and then being disappointed, or simply failing to deal with details. Rather than getting down about any apparent misfortunes or errors, you could decide to remember your strengths and shine a light on certain issues. A helpful connection with the Sun on the 16th suggests you can turn any challenge around with a little applied effort!
